About eN

eN was established in 2011, as a linked service with Ai Staff (Athlete Co.,Ltd.), which provides long-term care insurance related services, to provide complementary services. In particular, we provide education and training about caregiving, and develop new caregiving business systems. We established a subsidiary, 上海清恩商貿有限公司, in Shanghai in 2014, with the aim of sharing our knowledge of caregiving in Japan with Chinese caregivers. We are expanding into researching caregiving in China, providing caregiving training, providing support for Japanese expatriates in China, and are preparing to start home-visit caregiving.

Company strengths

Although our company is small, our president has lived in Shanghai and we have Chinese employees, so we are confident that our business in China will succeed.

· We already have a base in Shanghai

· Our care workers have been certified by the Kanagawa Association of Certified Care Workers.

This means we can obtain information about caregiving education and training in Japan quickly.

· We have previous experience in reconstructing many businesses, so we can take Japanese caregiving business models and adapt them to China.
